

Abstract

There is disclosed a process for producing an amide compound, which process is characterized in that a compound having an amino group are reacted with a polyaminopolycarboxylic acid anhydride in the 5 presence of the polyaminopolycarboxylic acid.